In Malawi there were of cases of death of visual artists without imparting skills to others combined with unavailability of institutions providing free tuition and lack of general public's appreciation for visual arts including lack of Capacity building for the youths in visual arts skills. The situation contributed to extreme poverty among youth in the country. It is against this back ground that Nthililo Studios Art Gallery and School (NSAGAS) in 2000 endorsement in 2016 and the Visual Arts and Crafts Youth Training Skills programme started operating in 2011.

MISSION

To contribute towards preservation of cultural values of the Malawian society through visual arts and craftsmanship, preservation documentation and training in indigenous knowledge.

VISION

NSAGAS envisions a society that values visual arts and craftsmanship works, particularly along the lines of local concepts.

CORE VALUES

Youth Empowerment
Capacity Building
Uniqueness
Transparency
Hardworking Spirit

We are a duly registered institution with the Government of Malawi through the Registrar General's Office. Our main objective is to work towards preserving culture, history and promoting traditions. The following are the specific objectives:

1. To reduce cases of death of visual artists without imparting skills to others.
2. To provide access to free tuition for vulnerable group.
3. To advocate for the general public's appreciation for visual arts.
4. To create platform for cultural exchange programs.
5. To provide capacity building for the youth in visual arts skills (poverty alleviation)
6. To promote tourism sector through visual arts and crafts

Founder's creativity on COVID19

One of the biggest migrations in India's modern history, hundreds of thousands of migrant laborers have begun long journeys on foot to get home, having been rendered homeless and jobless by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's nationwide lockdown to contain the spread of the coronavirus. With businesses shut down in cities across the country, vast numbers of migrants many of whom lived and ate where they worked — were suddenly without food and shelter.

Thousands of migrants in Delhi, including whole families, packed their pots, pans and blankets into rucksacks, some balancing children on their shoulders as they walked along interstate highways. Some planned to walk hundreds of miles.

So in this painting I am try express pain of that people who suffer from this situation more than the fear of COVID-19. And appreciate and honors' those who give his/her valuable contribution for serving the people

Rk Joykumar
Creative Artist,
Imphal, India

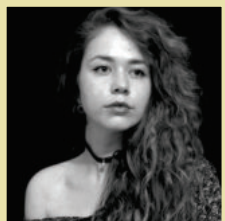

R. K. Joykumar Singh (1957) a painter, animator, Illustrator, cartoonist and installation artist, studied Fine Arts from the Imphal Art College, Manipur, India. He learnt graphics by staying at Garhi Studio, Delhi, in 1977.

He has attended several camps/ workshops and exhibited his works in different parts of India. His works are collected here in India and abroad.

He is at present teaching literature in a government college as an Associate Professor, got his Ph.D. on Indo-Anglian Postmodern Fiction.

Line, values and the two-dimensional character of shapes play main roles in my works. I started my creative journey with representational studies. At present I work mainly with abstract elements mixed with the abstracted human and environmental shapes. The two-dimensional approach has allowed me to deal with various creative statements. But I am not a propagandist. Some critics find my works neither purely abstract nor representational. I believe in a relentless search for new statements, visual vocabulary and grammar.

Vira Yakymchuk

Ukraine

Vira Yakymchuk is an Ukrainian painter, is one of the very few figurative art painters in Ukraine. She is primarily self-taught painter, and has developed her distinctive style based on the color of nature. Whose creative production revolves around classical figurative painting, presented in a contemporary manner. She reflect reality like a dream, which is also a reflection of real life.

By my work I am trying to reflect reality like a dream, which is also a reflection of real life which we live in and feel. Sensations, images, ideas, concepts, thoughts, emotions and feelings reflects objective reality experiences. They express a subjective attitude of humans to objects and phenomena of reality. Nature that awakens our souls to the vast inner freedom, allows us to give up time and space. It is a powerful source of knowledge, which through communication reveals its secrets to a person and makes it more sensitive to the world around him/her.

After all, a person's ability to see around him/her, makes a perfect peace in his/her soul and a sense of oneness with nature, helps to understand himself/herself and others better. Is both a celebratory and critical exploration of the delicate and highly complex natural feelings and emotions of human the around the world and the human relationship. The work not only investigates the intricate interrelatedness of the human of these various world and feelings, as well as the formation of these systems through the naturally selective forces of reality, but also the human role as an force acting on these systems from the inside and around.

Andrew Missi

Artist and Art educator
Blantyre city Malawi, Africa

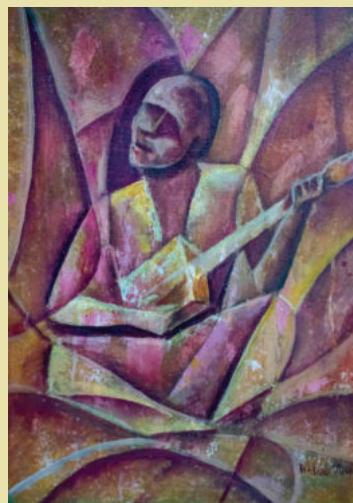

He was born in 1964 in Blantyre where he started drawing at 11 yrs at Makata Primary school. He was inspired by Brian Hara's illustrations in magazines and books.

After school, he learned painting from a professional signwriter then in 1986 he joined the Blantyre Art Group where he attended art demonstrations and annual art exhibitions at French Cultural Center and Ryalls Hotel. He met with professional painters who advised art techniques and borrowed him art books. He studied many books of art for years. He did many art exhibitions at FCC.

He joined VAAM Visual Art which was organized exhibitions and art workshops, then he studied art at Chancer College in 1996. From 2011, he had been teaching fine art at NSAGAS to the youth, then he taught at AYISE for two months. He paints landscapes, portraits and abstracts in oil and acrylic. He was also invited by Tikonzekere art Competition as one of judges. He also taught fine art at Jacaranda Cultural Center.

He exhibited his art during WESM art exhibition on June 2019. His works are sold in galleries at Lacaverna, La Gallaria and KwaHaraba. Some paintings are found at Mwai Wathu Hospital.

During WESM Art Festival in 10 November 2019, he facilitated art workshop where he taught watercolor painting

Nereida Lima

Water color artist
Tegucigalpa Honduras

After an education and successful career in architecture, Nereida Lima began her journey in the world of fine art. She began her fine art education with Enrique Escher, a friend and fellow countryman with over 40 years of experience. With her background in architecture, she became a proficient artist very quickly.

With many contacts in the private and corporate sectors, she quickly became a favored commissioned artist for collectors. Her works are held by collectors from countries all over the world including Japan, Australia, England, Switzerland, Spain, the USA, Canada, Mexico and Central America.

Nereida has also studied with Anna Mason, Meeta Dani, Angus McEwan and Laurie Goldstein-Warren.

Although Nereida is mainly a photorealist painter, she also works occasional in abstract forms as well. She is a teacher and juror and enjoys sharing her love of fine art with fellow artists as well as collectors and art lovers from all over the world.

Nixon Malamulo

Artist and Art educator

Malawi, Africa

Nixon Malamulo is an artist who paints using acrylic on canvas. He uses shapes thick paint and colours with both brush and pallet knife in directing thinking on natural and culture on already existing things. His perception is that the power of light on different colours reminds people about a variety of things they like be it painting of any kind of abstract or impression art explaining anything visible to people.

He started the Nthililo Studios Art Gallery and School (NSAGAS) in 2011 with a chief objective of training the youths in visual arts skills free of charge as one way of uplifting their living standards through self-employment creation in order to eradicate poverty among the youths.

His early encounters with art date back to late 70's when he was living with Aubrey Moi, a visual artist with Halls Garage and Malawi Motors Limited and Malawi Milk and marketing as a Sign-writer. In the early 90's he met Kato, also known as Fwande, a Congolese artist who taught him impressionism and abstract techniques. In most of these techniques he used line, shapes and colours to express his feelings.

Nixon is a well-known artist who has won awards such as International Arts Excellence Awards 2020 by Colours and Canvas from India Unique Visual Arts Education Conservatoire (RSAILER). He awarded International Excellence Awards 2020 by Colours and canvas in India. His paintings have been placed in different publications. Furthermore in 2017, he had an opportunity to have his article published in an air travel magazine called Tiyende Magazine. Some of his paintings were also published in the Imango Mundi book (www.imangomundi.org). He represented Malawi at World Art and Soul Project in New Zealand which was aimed at reducing poverty in least development countries of Asia and Africa (www.worldartandsoul.org)

He attended second International Medical & Health Humanities Africa (MHHA) 2019 Blantyre Malawi, workshops in fine art at French Cultural Centre several times which were facilitated by French, British and American artists from 1992 to 1995. On other occasions, he also attended workshops in film-making such as the African Movie Academy Award (2013), CISP Photography Upgrading Technical Skills (2009) and the first African International Creative Economy Conference in Nairobi, Kenya (2011).

His artworks have attracted national as well as international recognition scene.

In the filming field, he has produced video documentaries for National Youth Council of Malawi (2015), he participated The United Nations climate change Experimental International professional film festival up to the short list in 2011. Copyright Society of Malawi (COSOMA), Malawi Revenue Authority (MRA), Southern African Universities Sports Association (SAUSA) in 2008.

The year ahead (2020), will be a continuation of training the youth his art such as painting. Acrylic oil on canvas as well as film making and still photography.

Apart from mainstream visual arts, Nixon has attended Financial Management, Project Management, Business Management and Leadership Skills conducted by Malawi – Scotland Partnership (MASP) and CIPS (Malawi) respectively.

It's pleasing that the life of artists plays the role of reminding and promoting knowledge of culture and environment (nature) which is a great opportunity to all image makers.
